EMAIL: nkizacenterforresearch@gmail.com

Password: Amazimeza@1234

Nkiza Center for Research (NCR)

Advancing African and Global Knowledge through Accessible and Rigorous Publishing

The Nkiza Center for Research (NCR) is an independent academic publishing and research dissemination platform dedicated to high-quality, affordable, and ethical scholarly publishing. NCR places a strong emphasis on advancing knowledge relevant to Africa and the Global South while remaining fully open to global scholarship and committed to international academic and publishing standards.

Mission

To empower researchers, scholars, and practitioners by providing accessible, rigorous, and ethically published research outputs that inform policy, drive innovation, and contribute to sustainable development in Africa and across the globe.

Vision

To become a leading center for knowledge creation and dissemination that strengthens African scholarship, fosters global academic collaboration, and supports evidence-based solutions to the world's most pressing social, scientific, and technological challenges.

Alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

NCR actively supports the United Nations SDGs by promoting research and publications that:

- SDG 4 – Quality Education: Enhance access to knowledge through affordable and open scholarly publications.
- SDG 9 – Industry, Innovation, and Infrastructure: Advance science, technology, and innovation through rigorous research dissemination.
- SDG 10 – Reduced Inequalities: Amplify the voices of researchers from Africa and the Global South in international academic discourse.
- SDG 16 – Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions: Promote evidence-based policy, governance, and ethical scholarship.
- SDG 17 – Partnerships for the Goals: Foster international collaboration and interdisciplinary research networks for sustainable development.

Journals :

1. Nkiza international journal of economics
2. Nkiza international journal of medical sciences
3. Nkiza international journal of natural sciences
4. Nkiza international journal of social sciences, law and humanities
5. Nkiza international journal of computer sciences, engineering and data sciences

Details for each journal

1. Nkiza international journal of economics (NIJE)

A. ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Nkiza International Journal of Economics (NIJE) is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal dedicated to the publication of high-quality research in economics and related disciplines. The journal provides a credible scholarly platform for economists, researchers, policymakers, and students to disseminate original theoretical, empirical, and applied studies that contribute to economic knowledge and evidence-based policy formulation. Its scope includes development economics, macroeconomics, microeconomics, public economics, international trade, monetary and financial economics, labor economics, agricultural and environmental economics, econometrics, and applied economic policy analysis. While the journal places particular emphasis on economic issues relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, it welcomes high-quality submissions from any country in the world, reflecting its commitment to global scholarly dialogue and international academic standards.

The Nkiza International Journal of Economics is indexed and abstracted in recognized academic discovery and indexing platforms to ensure wide dissemination and visibility of published research. The journal complies with international publishing, metadata, and ethical standards required for inclusion in reputable indexing services such as ……, ……, and ……, as well as scholarly search engines including ……. All articles published in the journal are assigned Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) through ……, ensuring permanent accessibility, reliable citation, and long-term digital preservation.

The journal operates a rigorous double-blind peer-review process. Each submitted manuscript undergoes an initial editorial assessment to confirm its relevance to the journal's scope, originality, academic quality, and compliance with submission guidelines. Manuscripts that pass this stage are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent experts in the relevant field. Reviewers evaluate submissions based on methodological rigor, analytical depth, originality, clarity of presentation, and contribution to existing literature. Editorial decisions are communicated transparently, and authors receive constructive feedback aimed at improving the quality and impact of their work.

Nkiza International Journal of Economics offers significant benefits to authors, including professional editorial handling, open-access visibility, DOI assignment, long-term digital archiving, and global dissemination of research outputs. In addition, the journal applies an author-centered revenue-sharing model. When readers pay an access fee to view or download published articles, authors receive fifty percent (50%) of the income generated from access to their respective articles, providing both academic recognition and financial participation in the dissemination of their work.

The publication fee for the Nkiza International Journal of Economics is designed to remain inclusive and affordable. The article processing charge for students is —, while the fee for lecturers and researchers is —. These charges cover peer review coordination, editorial processing, DOI registration, online hosting, and digital preservation. Fee adjustments or waivers may be considered in justified cases in accordance with the journal's equity and access policy.

The journal accepts secure and accessible payment methods suitable for authors and readers from different regions. Accepted payment options include bank transfer, mobile money services where applicable, and other approved electronic payment platforms. All financial transactions are documented through official invoices and receipts to ensure transparency and accountability.

Nkiza International Journal of Economics is committed to a responsive, professional, and author-centered approach to customer service. The editorial office maintains timely and clear communication with authors throughout the submission, review, and publication processes. Inquiries are handled efficiently, and authors are guided transparently regarding editorial decisions, revision requirements, publication timelines, and revenue-sharing procedures.

Publishing in the Nkiza International Journal of Economics enhances authors' academic visibility, credibility, and research impact. By combining an African-centered perspective with an open and inclusive international orientation, the journal promotes global knowledge exchange and sustainable scholarly publishing.

B. EDITORIAL TEAM

The Nkiza International Journal of Economics is overseen by a qualified and internationally oriented editorial team composed of scholars with strong academic and research experience in economics and related fields. The Editor-in-Chief is ……, affiliated with …… University, and can be contacted via ……. The Editor-in-Chief holds the ORCID ID ……, and the Google Scholar profile is available at ……. The Managing Editor is ……, affiliated with …… University, reachable through ……, with ORCID ID …… and a Google Scholar profile accessible at **…….

The journal is further supported by an Editorial Board and an International Advisory Board consisting of academics and researchers from diverse universities and research institutions across Africa and other regions of the world. Full details of editorial members, including institutional affiliations, contact information, ORCID identifiers, and scholarly profiles, are published on the journal's official website to ensure transparency, academic credibility, and compliance with international publishing standards.

C. SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts submitted to the Nkiza International Journal of Economics must be original, unpublished, and not under consideration by any other journal at the time of submission. Authors from Africa and all other regions of the world are encouraged to submit their work. Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with the journal's author guidelines, ensuring clarity of research objectives, appropriate methodological design, accurate citation, and adherence to ethical research standards. All in-text citations and reference lists must strictly follow the American Psychological Association (APA) referencing style, using the most recent edition adopted by the journal. Submissions are made electronically through the journal's online submission system and are subject to plagiarism screening prior to the peer-review process.

The journal respects authors' privacy and intellectual property rights. Personal information collected during the submission and review process is used solely for editorial and publishing purposes and is not disclosed to third parties. Copyright of published articles remains with the authors under an open-access licensing framework that allows users to read, download, share, and cite the work with proper attribution. Authors grant the journal the right to publish, distribute, archive, and monetize access to the article in accordance with the journal's access and revenue-sharing model, while retaining the right to reuse their work for academic, educational, and non-commercial purposes.

D. CONTACT

All correspondence concerning submissions, editorial matters, publication policies, referencing requirements, access fees, or revenue-sharing arrangements should be directed to the editorial office of the Nkiza International Journal of Economics. The journal can be contacted via email at ……. The editorial office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, reviewers, and partners from Africa and across the world through timely, transparent, and professional communication.

6. Nkiza international journal of natural sciences (NIJNS)

A. ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences (NIJNS) is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal dedicated to the publication of high-quality research in the natural sciences and related interdisciplinary fields. The journal provides a reliable scholarly platform for scientists, researchers, educators, and students to disseminate original theoretical, experimental, and applied research that advances scientific knowledge and contributes to sustainable development. Its scope includes biology, chemistry, physics, environmental sciences, earth and geological sciences, agricultural and life sciences, biotechnology, mathematics, applied statistics, and other related natural science disciplines. While the journal places particular emphasis on scientific research relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, it welcomes submissions from researchers in any country worldwide, reflecting its commitment to global scientific collaboration and international academic standards.

The Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences is indexed and abstracted in recognized academic discovery and indexing platforms to ensure broad dissemination and visibility of published research. The journal adheres to international publishing, metadata, and ethical standards required for inclusion in reputable indexing services such as ……, ……, and ……, as well as scholarly search engines including ……. All articles published in the journal are assigned Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) through ……, ensuring permanent accessibility, accurate citation, and long-term digital preservation.

The journal applies a rigorous double-blind peer-review process to all submitted manuscripts. Each submission undergoes an initial editorial evaluation to verify relevance to the journal's scope, originality, scientific validity, and compliance with submission guidelines. Manuscripts that pass this stage are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent experts in the relevant field. Reviewers assess submissions based on scientific rigor, methodological soundness, originality, clarity of presentation, reproducibility, and contribution to existing scientific knowledge. Editorial decisions are communicated transparently, and authors receive constructive feedback aimed at strengthening the quality and impact of their work.

Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences offers significant benefits to authors, including professional editorial handling, open-access visibility, DOI assignment, long-term digital archiving, and global dissemination of scientific research. In addition, the journal applies an author-centered revenue-sharing model. When readers pay an access fee to view or download published articles, authors receive fifty percent (50%) of the income generated from access to their respective articles, ensuring that authors benefit directly from the dissemination and use of their scientific work.

The publication fee for the Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences is designed to remain inclusive and accessible. The article processing charge for students is —, while the fee for lecturers and researchers is —. These charges cover peer review coordination, editorial processing, DOI registration, online hosting, and digital preservation. Fee adjustments or waivers may be considered in justified cases in line with the journal's equity and inclusion policy.

The journal accepts secure and accessible payment methods suitable for authors and readers from different regions. Accepted payment options include bank transfer, mobile money services where applicable, and other approved electronic payment platforms. All financial transactions are documented through official invoices and receipts to ensure transparency and accountability.

Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences is committed to a responsive, professional, and author-centered approach to customer service. The editorial office maintains timely and clear communication with authors throughout the submission, review, and publication processes. Inquiries are addressed efficiently, and authors are guided transparently regarding editorial decisions, revision requirements, publication timelines, and revenue-sharing procedures.

Publishing in the Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences enhances authors' academic visibility, scientific credibility, and research impact. By combining an African-centered perspective with an open and inclusive international orientation, the journal promotes global scientific exchange and sustainable scholarly publishing.

B. EDITORIAL TEAM

The Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences is overseen by a qualified and internationally oriented editorial team composed of scholars with strong academic and research experience in the natural sciences and related disciplines. The Editor-in-Chief is ……, affiliated with …… University, and can be contacted via ……. The Editor-in-Chief holds the ORCID ID ……, and the Google Scholar profile is available at ……. The Managing Editor is ……, affiliated with …… University, reachable through ……, with ORCID ID …… and a Google Scholar profile accessible at **…….

The journal is supported by an Editorial Board and an International Advisory Board composed of scientists and researchers from diverse universities and research institutions across Africa and other regions of the world. Full details of editorial members, including institutional affiliations, contact information, ORCID identifiers, and scholarly profiles, are published on the journal's official website to ensure transparency, academic credibility, and compliance with international publishing standards.

C. SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts submitted to the Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences must be original, unpublished, and not under consideration by any other journal at the time of submission. Researchers from Africa and all other regions of the world are encouraged to submit their work. Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with the journal's author guidelines, ensuring clear research objectives, sound scientific methodology, appropriate data analysis, accurate citation, and adherence to ethical research standards. All in-text citations and reference lists must strictly follow the American Psychological Association (APA) referencing style, using the most recent edition adopted by the journal. Submissions are made electronically through the journal's online submission system and are subject to plagiarism screening prior to the peer-review process.

The journal respects authors' privacy and intellectual property rights. Personal information collected during the submission and review process is used solely for editorial and publishing purposes and is not disclosed to third parties. Copyright of published articles remains with the authors under an open-access licensing framework that allows users to read, download, share, and cite the work with proper attribution. Authors grant the journal the right to publish, distribute, archive, and monetize access to the article in accordance with the journal's access and revenue-sharing model, while retaining the right to reuse their work for academic, educational, and non-commercial purposes.

D. CONTACT

All correspondence concerning submissions, editorial matters, publication policies, referencing requirements, access fees, or revenue-sharing arrangements should be directed to the editorial office of the Nkiza International Journal of Natural Sciences. The journal can be contacted via email at ……. The editorial office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, reviewers, and institutional partners from Africa and across the world through timely, transparent, and professional communication.

3. Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences (NIJMS)

A. ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences (NIJMS) is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal dedicated to the publication of high-quality research in medical sciences and related health disciplines. The journal provides a trusted scholarly platform for clinicians, medical researchers, public health specialists, educators, and students to disseminate original clinical, experimental, and applied research that advances medical knowledge, improves healthcare systems, and informs evidence-based practice. Its scope includes clinical medicine, public health, epidemiology, biomedical sciences, nursing and midwifery, pharmacology, medical laboratory sciences, health systems research, mental health, nutrition, and allied health sciences. While the journal places particular emphasis on medical and health research relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, it welcomes high-quality submissions from researchers in any country worldwide, reflecting its commitment to global health scholarship and international academic standards.

The Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences is indexed and abstracted in recognized academic discovery and indexing platforms to ensure broad dissemination and visibility of published research. The journal adheres to international publishing, metadata, and ethical standards required for inclusion in reputable indexing services such as ……, ……, and ……, as well as scholarly search engines including ……. All articles published in the journal are assigned Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) through ……, ensuring permanent accessibility, accurate citation, and long-term digital preservation.

The journal applies a rigorous double-blind peer-review process to all submitted manuscripts. Each submission undergoes an initial editorial evaluation to assess relevance to the journal's scope, originality, scientific validity, and compliance with submission guidelines. Manuscripts that pass this stage are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent experts in the relevant medical or health field. Reviewers evaluate submissions based on methodological rigor, ethical compliance, clinical relevance where applicable, clarity of presentation, and contribution to existing medical knowledge. Editorial decisions are communicated transparently, and authors receive constructive feedback aimed at strengthening the quality, safety, and impact of their work.

Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences offers substantial benefits to authors, including professional editorial handling, open-access visibility, DOI assignment, long-term digital archiving, and global dissemination of medical research. In addition, the journal adopts an author-centered revenue-sharing model. When readers pay an access fee to view or download published articles, authors receive fifty percent (50%) of the income generated from access to their respective articles, supporting both academic recognition and financial participation in knowledge dissemination.

The publication fee for the Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences is designed to remain inclusive and accessible. The article processing charge for students is —, while the fee for lecturers, clinicians, and researchers is —. These charges cover peer review coordination, editorial processing, DOI registration, online hosting, and digital preservation. Fee adjustments or waivers may be considered in justified cases in accordance with the journal's equity, ethics, and access policy.

The journal accepts secure and accessible payment methods suitable for authors and readers from different regions. Accepted payment options include bank transfer, mobile money services where applicable, and other approved electronic payment platforms. All financial transactions are documented through official invoices and receipts to ensure transparency and accountability.

Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences is committed to a responsive, professional, and author-centered approach to customer service. The editorial office maintains timely and clear communication with authors throughout the submission, review, and publication processes. Inquiries are handled efficiently, and authors are guided transparently regarding editorial decisions, ethical requirements, revision procedures, publication timelines, and revenue-sharing arrangements.

Publishing in the Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences enhances authors' academic visibility, professional credibility, and research impact. By combining an Africa-focused health perspective with an inclusive international orientation, the journal promotes global health knowledge exchange and sustainable medical publishing.

B. EDITORIAL TEAM

The Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences is overseen by a qualified and internationally oriented editorial team composed of scholars and professionals with strong academic and clinical experience in medical and health sciences. The Editor-in-Chief is ……, affiliated with …… University, and can be contacted via ……. The Editor-in-Chief holds the ORCID ID ……, and the Google Scholar profile is available at ……. The Managing Editor is ……, affiliated with …… University, reachable through ……, with ORCID ID …… and a Google Scholar profile accessible at **…….

The journal is supported by an Editorial Board and an International Advisory Board composed of clinicians, researchers, and public health experts from diverse universities, hospitals, and research institutions across Africa and other regions of the world. Full details of editorial members, including institutional affiliations, contact information, ORCID identifiers, and scholarly profiles, are published on the journal's official website to ensure transparency, academic credibility, and compliance with international publishing standards.

C. SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts submitted to the Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences must be original, unpublished, and not under consideration by any other journal at the time of submission. Researchers and practitioners from Africa and all other regions of the world are encouraged to submit their work. Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with the journal's author guidelines, ensuring clear clinical or research objectives, sound methodology, ethical approval where applicable, accurate citation, and adherence to international research ethics. All in-text citations and reference lists must strictly follow the American Psychological Association (APA) referencing style, using the most recent edition adopted by the journal. Submissions are made electronically through the journal's online submission system and are subject to plagiarism screening prior to the peer-review process.

The journal respects authors' privacy and intellectual property rights. Personal information collected during the submission and review process is used solely for editorial and publishing purposes and is not disclosed to third parties. Copyright of published articles remains with the authors under an open-access licensing framework that allows users to read, download, share, and cite the work with proper attribution. Authors grant the journal the right to publish, distribute, archive, and monetize access to the article in accordance with the journal's access and revenue-sharing model, while retaining the right to reuse their work for academic, educational, and non-commercial purposes.

D. CONTACT

All correspondence concerning submissions, editorial matters, publication policies, ethical requirements, referencing standards, access fees, or revenue-sharing arrangements should be directed to the editorial office of the Nkiza International Journal of Medical Sciences. The journal can be contacted via email at ……. The editorial office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, reviewers, and institutional partners from Africa and across the world through timely, transparent, and professional communication.

4. Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities (NIJSLH)

A. ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities (NIJSLH) is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal dedicated to the publication of high-quality research in the social sciences, legal studies, and humanities. The journal provides an inclusive scholarly platform for social scientists, legal scholars, humanists, policymakers, educators, and students to disseminate original theoretical, empirical, interpretive, and applied research that contributes to social understanding, legal development, cultural analysis, and policy formulation. Its scope includes sociology, finance and accounting-related social studies, management and related social sciences, entrepreneurship, political science, public and business administration, international relations, anthropology, demography, psychology, development studies, law, criminology, human rights, jurisprudence, philosophy, history, literature, linguistics, cultural studies, ethics, and related interdisciplinary fields. While the journal places particular emphasis on social, legal, and humanistic issues relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, it welcomes high-quality submissions from researchers in any country worldwide, reflecting its commitment to global scholarly exchange and international academic standards.

The Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities is indexed and abstracted in recognized academic discovery and indexing platforms to ensure broad dissemination and visibility of published research. The journal adheres to international publishing, metadata, and ethical standards required for inclusion in reputable indexing services such as ……, ……, and ……, as well as scholarly search engines including ……. All articles published in the journal are assigned Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) through ……, ensuring permanent accessibility, accurate citation, and long-term digital preservation.

The journal applies a rigorous double-blind peer-review process to all submitted manuscripts. Each submission undergoes an initial editorial evaluation to assess relevance to the journal's scope, originality, academic quality, ethical soundness, and compliance with submission guidelines. Manuscripts that pass this stage are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent experts in the relevant discipline. Reviewers evaluate submissions based on analytical depth, methodological rigor where applicable, originality, theoretical contribution, clarity of argumentation, and contribution to existing scholarship. Editorial decisions are communicated transparently, and authors receive constructive feedback aimed at strengthening the scholarly quality and impact of their work.

Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities offers substantial benefits to authors, including professional editorial handling, open-access visibility, DOI assignment, long-term digital archiving, and global dissemination of scholarly work. In addition, the journal adopts an author-centered revenue-sharing model. When readers pay an access fee to view or download published articles, authors receive fifty percent (50%) of the income generated from access to their respective articles, ensuring that authors benefit directly from the reach and use of their intellectual contributions.

The publication fee for the Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities is structured to remain inclusive and accessible. The article processing charge for students is —, while the fee for lecturers, researchers, and practitioners is —. These charges cover peer review coordination, editorial processing, DOI registration, online hosting, and digital preservation. Fee adjustments or waivers may be considered in justified cases in accordance with the journal's equity and access policy.

The journal accepts secure and accessible payment methods suitable for authors and readers from different regions. Accepted payment options include bank transfer, mobile money services where applicable, and other approved electronic payment platforms. All financial transactions are documented through official invoices and receipts to ensure transparency and accountability.

Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities is committed to a responsive, professional, and author-centered approach to customer service. The editorial office maintains timely and clear communication with authors throughout the submission, review, and publication processes. Inquiries are handled efficiently, and authors are guided transparently regarding editorial decisions, revision procedures, publication timelines, and revenue-sharing arrangements.

Publishing in the Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities enhances authors' academic visibility, intellectual credibility, and research impact. By combining an Africa-centered scholarly perspective with an inclusive international orientation, the journal promotes interdisciplinary dialogue, cultural understanding, legal development, and sustainable academic publishing.

B. EDITORIAL TEAM

The Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities is overseen by a qualified and internationally oriented editorial team composed of scholars with strong academic and professional experience in social sciences, law, and humanities. The Editor-in-Chief is ……, affiliated with …… University, and can be contacted via ……. The Editor-in-Chief holds the ORCID ID ……, and the Google Scholar profile is available at ……. The Managing Editor is ……, affiliated with …… University, reachable through ……, with ORCID ID …… and a Google Scholar profile accessible at **…….

The journal is supported by an Editorial Board and an International Advisory Board composed of academics, legal practitioners, researchers, and humanists from diverse universities and research institutions across Africa and other regions of the world. Full details of editorial members, including institutional affiliations, contact information, ORCID identifiers, and scholarly profiles, are published on the journal's official website to ensure transparency, academic credibility, and compliance with international publishing standards.

C. SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts submitted to the Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities must be original, unpublished, and not under consideration by any other journal at the time of submission. Scholars and practitioners from Africa and all other regions of the world are encouraged to submit their work. Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with the journal's author guidelines, ensuring clarity of objectives, appropriate methodological or interpretive approaches, accurate citation, and adherence to ethical research and publication standards. All in-text citations and reference lists must strictly follow the American Psychological Association (APA) referencing style, using the most recent edition adopted by the journal. Submissions are made electronically through the journal's online submission system and are subject to plagiarism screening prior to the peer-review process.

The journal respects authors' privacy and intellectual property rights. Personal information collected during the submission and review process is used solely for editorial and publishing purposes and is not disclosed to third parties. Copyright of published articles remains with the authors under an open-access licensing framework that allows users to read, download, share, and cite the work with proper attribution. Authors grant the journal the right to publish, distribute, archive, and monetize access to the article in accordance with the journal's access and revenue-sharing model, while retaining the right to reuse their work for academic, educational, and non-commercial purposes.

D. CONTACT

All correspondence concerning submissions, editorial matters, publication policies, ethical considerations, referencing standards, access fees, or revenue-sharing arrangements should be directed to the editorial office of the Nkiza International Journal of Social Sciences, Law and Humanities. The journal can be contacted via email at ……. The editorial office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, reviewers, and institutional partners from Africa and across the world through timely, transparent, and professional communication.

5. Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences (NIJCEDS)

A. ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences (NIJCEDS) is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal dedicated to the publication of high-quality research in computer sciences, engineering, and data-driven disciplines. The journal provides an inclusive scholarly platform for computer scientists, engineers, data scientists, researchers, practitioners, policymakers, educators, and students to disseminate original theoretical, empirical, experimental, and applied research that advances technological innovation, computational knowledge, engineering solutions, and data-driven decision-making.

The scope of the journal includes, but is not limited to, computer science, software engineering, information systems, artificial intelligence, machine learning, data science, big data analytics, computer networks, cybersecurity, cloud computing, Internet of Things (IoT), embedded systems, electrical and electronic engineering, mechanical engineering, civil and environmental engineering, telecommunications, robotics, automation, computational mathematics, information technology, and related interdisciplinary fields. While the journal places particular emphasis on technological, engineering, and data science challenges and innovations relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, it welcomes high-quality submissions from researchers worldwide, reflecting its commitment to global scientific exchange and international academic standards.

The Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences is indexed and abstracted in recognized academic discovery and indexing platforms to ensure broad dissemination and visibility of published research. The journal adheres to international publishing, metadata, and ethical standards required for inclusion in reputable indexing services such as ……, ……, and ……, as well as scholarly search engines including ……. All articles published in the journal are assigned Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) through ……, ensuring permanent accessibility, accurate citation, and long-term digital preservation.

The journal applies a rigorous double-blind peer-review process to all submitted manuscripts. Each submission undergoes an initial editorial evaluation to assess relevance to the journal's scope, originality, technical quality, ethical soundness, and compliance with submission guidelines. Manuscripts that pass this stage are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent experts in the relevant field. Reviewers assess submissions based on technical depth, methodological rigor, innovation, practical relevance, clarity of presentation, and contribution to existing scientific and engineering knowledge. Editorial decisions are communicated transparently, and authors receive constructive feedback aimed at strengthening the scientific quality and impact of their work.

Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences offers substantial benefits to authors, including professional editorial handling, open-access visibility, DOI assignment, long-term digital archiving, and global dissemination of scholarly work. In addition, the journal adopts an author-centered revenue-sharing model. When readers pay an access fee to view or download published articles, authors receive fifty percent (50%) of the income generated from access to their respective articles, ensuring that authors benefit directly from the use and impact of their intellectual and technical contributions.

The publication fee for the Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences is structured to remain inclusive and accessible. The article processing charge for students is —, while the fee for lecturers, researchers, engineers, and practitioners is —. These charges cover peer review coordination, editorial processing, DOI registration, online hosting, and digital preservation. Fee adjustments or waivers may be considered in justified cases in accordance with the journal's equity and access policy.

The journal accepts secure and accessible payment methods suitable for authors and readers from different regions. Accepted payment options include bank transfer, mobile money services where applicable, and other approved electronic payment platforms. All financial transactions are documented through official invoices and receipts to ensure transparency and accountability.

Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences is committed to a responsive, professional, and author-centered approach to customer service. The editorial office maintains timely and clear communication with authors throughout the submission, review, and publication processes. Inquiries are handled efficiently, and authors are guided transparently regarding editorial decisions, revision procedures, publication timelines, and revenue-sharing arrangements.

Publishing in the Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences enhances authors' academic visibility, professional credibility, and research impact. By combining an Africa-centered technological perspective with an inclusive international orientation, the journal promotes innovation, digital transformation, engineering excellence, and sustainable scientific publishing.

B. EDITORIAL TEAM

The Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences is overseen by a qualified and internationally oriented editorial team composed of scholars and professionals with strong academic and industry experience in computer sciences, engineering, and data sciences. The Editor-in-Chief is ……, affiliated with …… University, and can be contacted via ……. The Editor-in-Chief holds the ORCID ID ……, and the Google Scholar profile is available at ……. The Managing Editor is ……, affiliated with …… University, reachable through ……, with ORCID ID …… and a Google Scholar profile accessible at …….

The journal is supported by an Editorial Board and an International Advisory Board composed of computer scientists, engineers, data scientists, and researchers from diverse universities, research institutions, and industry organizations across Africa and other regions of the world. Full details of editorial members, including institutional affiliations, contact information, ORCID identifiers, and scholarly profiles, are published on the journal's official website to ensure transparency, academic credibility, and compliance with international publishing standards.

C. SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts submitted to the Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences must be original, unpublished, and not under consideration by any other journal at the time of submission. Researchers and practitioners from Africa and all other regions of the world are encouraged to submit their work. Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with the journal's author guidelines, ensuring clear problem definition, sound methodology or system design, appropriate experimentation or validation, accurate citation, and adherence to ethical research and publication standards.

All in-text citations and reference lists must strictly follow the referencing style adopted by the journal (APA or another specified standard, depending on discipline). Submissions are made electronically through the journal's online submission system and are subject to plagiarism screening prior to the peer-review process.

The journal respects authors' privacy and intellectual property rights. Personal information collected during the submission and review process is used solely for editorial and publishing purposes and is not disclosed to third parties. Copyright of published articles remains with the authors under an open-access licensing framework that allows users to read, download, share, and cite the work with proper attribution. Authors grant the journal the right to publish, distribute, archive, and monetize access to the article in accordance with the journal's access and revenue-sharing model, while retaining the right to reuse their work for academic, educational, and non-commercial purposes.

D. CONTACT

All correspondence concerning submissions, editorial matters, publication policies, ethical considerations, referencing standards, access fees, or revenue-sharing arrangements should be directed to the editorial office of the Nkiza International Journal of Computer Sciences, Engineering and Data Sciences. The journal can be contacted via email at ……. The editorial office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, reviewers, and institutional partners from Africa and across the world through timely, transparent, and professional communication.

NKIZA ACADEMIC & PROFESSIONAL BOOK PUBLISHING

A. ABOUT NKIZA BOOK PUBLICATIONS

Nkiza eBook Publications is the digital academic and professional publishing arm of Nkiza, established to support the creation, dissemination, and long-term preservation of high-quality scholarly and applied eBooks. The imprint advances knowledge, education, professional practice, and policy development through accessible, technology-driven digital publishing.

Unlike academic journals, Nkiza eBook Publications focuses exclusively on long-form digital scholarship, including authored eBooks, edited eBook volumes, academic eTextbooks, handbooks, professional guides, and policy-oriented digital publications. These works enable sustained analysis, comprehensive treatment of subject areas, and enduring academic and professional value.

Nkiza eBook Publications supports eBook projects across a broad range of disciplines, including economics; medical sciences; natural sciences; social sciences, law and humanities; and computer sciences, engineering and data sciences. While particular emphasis is placed on issues relevant to Africa and other developing and emerging regions, the imprint welcomes high-quality eBook proposals from authors worldwide, promoting inclusive knowledge exchange and global academic engagement.

B. SCOPE OF BOOK PUBLICATIONS

Nkiza eBook Publications considers proposals in the following categories:

- Scholarly eBook monographs presenting original research
- Edited eBook volumes with thematically coherent chapters
- Academic eTextbooks for undergraduate and postgraduate study
- Professional and practice-oriented eBooks
- Digital handbooks and reference eBooks
- Policy and development-oriented eBooks

All proposals must demonstrate intellectual rigor, coherence, relevance to intended audiences, and suitability for digital dissemination.

C. EDITORIAL AND REVIEW PROCESS

Nkiza eBook Publications applies a structured editorial and scholarly assessment process tailored to digital book publishing. All proposals undergo an initial editorial evaluation to assess relevance, originality, feasibility, scholarly or professional value, and alignment with Nkiza's publishing mission.

Full eBook manuscripts and edited collections are evaluated by subject-matter experts through editorial, scholarly, or technical review, depending on the nature of the publication. Authors and editors receive constructive feedback to enhance content quality, organization, accuracy, and digital readability prior to acceptance and production.

D. AUTHOR SUPPORT AND DIGITAL PUBLISHING SERVICES

Nkiza eBook Publications provides comprehensive digital publishing support, including:

- Editorial coordination and developmental editing
- Copyediting and proofreading
- ISBN assignment and digital bibliographic metadata
- Professional eBook formatting and layout
- Cover design optimized for digital platforms
- Secure online hosting and global digital dissemination
- Long-term digital archiving and preservation

E. ACCESS, PRICING, AND ROYALTIES

Nkiza eBook Publications adopts an inclusive and transparent digital access model. eBooks may be published as open-access, partially open-access, or paid-access digital publications, depending on author preference, institutional support, or funding arrangements.

Where eBooks generate revenue through sales or access fees, authors or editors receive seventy percent (70%) of net royalties after applicable taxes. Royalty calculations, reporting schedules, and payment procedures are defined clearly in publishing agreements to ensure transparency and accountability.

Submission and Publication Fees

Nkiza eBook Publications maintains accessible pricing structures. Current fees are set as follows:

- Students: ———
- Lecturers, researchers, and professionals: ———

These fees, where applicable, cover editorial assessment, scholarly review coordination, copyediting, digital formatting, ISBN assignment, online hosting, long-term digital archiving, and administrative support. Fee adjustments or waivers may be granted in justified cases in accordance with Nkiza's equity and access policy.

F. COPYRIGHT AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Authors retain copyright to their eBooks under clearly defined digital publishing agreements. Nkiza eBook Publications is granted the right to publish, distribute, archive, and market the eBooks in electronic formats and platforms. Open-access eBooks are released under appropriate digital licensing frameworks that allow reading, sharing, and citation with proper attribution while protecting authors' intellectual contributions.

G. ETHICS AND QUALITY ASSURANCE

Nkiza eBook Publications adheres to international ethical standards in academic and professional publishing. All eBooks must comply with principles of research integrity, accurate citation, responsible authorship, and academic honesty. Editorial checks and plagiarism screening are conducted prior to digital publication to ensure quality, credibility, and trust.

H. CONTACT

All inquiries regarding eBook proposals, editorial processes, digital publishing services, submission fees, royalty arrangements, or distribution should be directed to Nkiza eBook Publications via email at ……. The publishing office is based in Kigali, Rwanda, and serves authors, editors, and institutional partners across Africa and globally through professional, transparent, and responsive digital communication.
